INQUEST IS HELD IN MURDER CASE

Claude Bass Name of Man Murdered Tuesday Night.

Latest Testimony Leads to Belief That Bass Was Assaulted in a House.

A WOMAN'S STRANGE STORY.

The body of Claude Bass, the boy who was murdered at Sixth and Terrell streets Tuesday night, or dragged there after the assault by his murderers, was exhumed yesterday and positively identified by his uncle, St. W. Bass. The body was then buried in Oak Grove cemetery.

This afternoon Coroner Baker is holding the inquest.

Chief Collins says he knows the murderers of the boy, but is not yet able to lay his hands on them. He fears they have escaped.

Considerable evidence is coming to the police every day and the latest proof leads to the original belief that the boy was assaulted in a house near Sixth and Terrell streets. The theory that he was assaulted on the river bank and taken to the spot where he was found unconscious is almost untenable, as the river path winds around a distance of several blocks, and it would be difficult to carry the body there.

Some strange tales of the neighborhood are coming to light, and at least one family, the members of which have talked considerable about the case, has moved away, fearing lest they may be made to suffer for their frankness.

Another woman, who fears to let her name be known, has told Chief of Police James Collins some facts to which she will testify if she is protected.

She said on the night of the murder she heard a musical ring on in a neighboring house, which she designated. She heard a woman's voice utter an exclamation of helpless dismay and then a male voice spoke fiercely, while another male voice said: "Help they are killing me."

Afterwards she saw a white man pushing a hand cart past her house in the direction of the place where the body was found.

Body Identified.

Claude Bass is the name of the young man found unconscious and fatally injured in a field near Sixth and Terrell streets last Wednesday morning by negroes passing on route to work. The clothes of the boy were identified Saturday afternoon late and yesterday, when the body was exhumed, the uncle and other relatives positively identified the body, which leaves no doubt as to the identity.

Claude Bass was between 20 and 21 years of age. He lived here until sent to the reform school several years ago for a term of four years. He returned and sought employment in the railroad service. He was last employed on the Big Four road at Grayville, Ill., and when here last week had a great deal of money on him. He was stripped of every cent which bears out the theory of murder for robbery.

Saturday Edward Cohen, who conducts a clothing store at 1531 Broad street, identified the clothes of Bass at the police station. He stated that Tuesday afternoon Bass had come to his store with a lot of money and left a grip in his care. He tried to sell the young man a suit of clothes but he did not buy. Because he tried to sell Bass a suit, Cohen remembered what the boy had on. He identified the garments at the police station. Later G. W. Bass, of 1626 Broad street identified the clothes as also did Miss Mary Bass, his daughter. Mr. Bass is an uncle of the murdered boy. Even the photo was identified and so strongly did the uncle believe it was his nephew, that he ordered the body exhumed. Identification was complete when the body was seen, and it was buried in Oak Grove yesterday.

Chief Collins Talks.

"Yes, we have positively identified the man and we also know the two boys with him when he was seen in the barracks by the shantyboat man," Chief Collins said. "We are handicapped with no men to work on the case. I sent Detective Will Baker to Princeton yesterday after one of the boys, but he failed to get him. We think they have skipped out. They got from Bass, I presume, at least, $70, as he had this amount

GIRL ENDS LIFE; MAN WEAKENS Agreement to Die Follows Parents' Plan to Part Lovers.

Houston, Texas, August 27.—In fulfillment of a suicide agreement, Miss Pearl Baxter, the 20-year-old daughter of a wealthy planter near Archer, Texas, drank poison early this morning and died in agony in the arms of her sweetheart. He was to have ended his life at the same time, but lost courage at the last moment. Miss Baxter's parents opposed her marriage and had planned to take her north tomorrow to break up the attachment. The young couple met in a canteen near her house with two bottles of carbolic acid. They kissed good-by and lifted the bottles to their lips. The horror on Miss Baxter's face caused the young man to weaken.

NARROW ESCAPE

TWO MEN IN TWO HORSE RIG STRUCK BY TRAIN.

One Horse Is Seriously Hurt and One of the Men Receives Bruises.

Thomas Sullivan and William Throat, of Benton, Marshall county, had a narrow escape from death this morning at 5 o'clock at the Illinois Central crossing in the Benton road. Their vehicle was struck by a train and one horse was badly injured. Throat was bruised.

The two were driving home, seated in a double rig. The horses got about half over the tracks when the men saw a fast approaching freight train. They realized it was too late to drive across and backed the horses off the track and jumped out. Throat tried to hold them but they swung around against the train. They were hurled down and Throat lost his balance, and went to the ground, escaping narrowly from going under the horses. One horse was cut in the hip and bled profusely.

The rig was broken badly and the men borrowed a buggy from Mr. J. T. Youngblood and a horse from Mr. C. Dunn and continued their journey. They will return tonight to take charge of their horses, which were left with Mr. Youngblood.

TAKE SUNNY SIDE OF STREET TODAY

Early Morning Crowd Walks Briskly on Broadway.

Temperature Fell When Edge of Storm Struck Paducah on Sunday Evening.

RAD WEATHER ON THE LAKES.

This morning the sunny side of the street which has been neglected so long had something of its old weather popularity. The good old summer time went out yesterday and the first signs of fall came in with a vengeance.

Coming to work this morning people had coats on and hands in pockets and the step of nearly everyone was springy and energetic from the bracing atmosphere.

The temperature today at 1 o'clock was 76, no higher than the lowest temperature we have had every day for the last ten days. Sunday the highest temperature was 90 and in eighteen hours it had fallen 26 points to 64 this morning.

The cold snap began with the hard rain Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. It probably was the fall end of a severe storm, which swept the great lakes. While it is a little early, it is the advance guard of fall, according to the weather observer.

Storm on the Lakes.

Cleveland, Aug. 27.—In a force storm, which broke over Lake Erie Sunday night, two boats were lost. The steamer Rhoda Stewart with two barges was caught in a terrific gale. A steamship broke and she was forced to cut off her tow. The Stewart is now beached a half mile from the life saving station. The schooner Agnes Potter burned. The schooner William Crandly foundered off Euclid beach early this morning. Their boats were cast off. It is believed no lives were lost. Nine men were saved in small boats.

Mazatlan in Ruins.

Mexico City, Aug. 27.—A large portion of Mazatlan is in ruins as the result of the most disastrous flood in the history of the port. Twenty days of incessant rain made the whole lower country one vast sea of water. Mazatlan has a population of 9,000. Hundreds are homeless and thousands of acres of land along the coast are submerged. The loss is estimated at millions.

MINERS TO REPRESENT ALASKA.

Republican and Democratic Nominees Defeated by Large Majorities.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 27.—Alaska has elected two miners as her territorial delegates to congress. They defeated the Republican and Democratic nominees in the elections last week by overwhelming majorities. Their election is looked on as Alaska's protest against broken promises by the national government, neglect of her interests and opposition to wealthy corporations. The new delegates are Thomas Cole, elected by 3,531 plurality for the long term, and Frank Kaskas, who received 2,985 majority for the short term. Cole is a native of Wisconsin; is known as "Honest Tom" and has been a miner since 1897. Frank Kaskas is 33 years old, is a Minnesotan and his home is at Nome. He is known as a "trail blazer," which interpreted means a man who accomplishes what he sets out to do.

CARS ARE TIED UP.

By Frisco Strike of Street Car Motormen and Conductors.

San Francisco, Cal., August 27.—With the exception of the California and heavy street line, street railway traffic was suspended today by a strike of conductors and motormen at 5 o'clock this morning. The company made no attempt to run cars and consequently there was no disorder.

Kentucky to the Front.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Chairman Sherman, of the Republican congressional committee, said today he was receiving more $1 contributions to a campaign fund from Kentucky and Missouri than from any other states in the Union in proportion to their population. New York and Pennsylvania are doing well, too, he said, but Montana and Nevada have not contributed a cent.

NEEDLE PLUNGED INTO HIS BREAST

Boy Takes Wild Ride to Paducah for Relief.

Three Inches of Fine Steel Working Its Way Toward Heart of Massac Youth.

OPERATION AT RIVERSIDE.

With a three-inch needle plunged directly into his left breast over the heart, Aubrey Springer, of Massac, was brought into the city Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, by his father and friends, who did not spare their horses in the mad race for surgical aid.

They drove up to the Fraternity building and Springer was assisted into Dr. H. P. Sights' office, where he had been directed by a physician in the county. An X-ray examination was made, the broken off needle located, pencil marks made on his breast for guidance in the operation, and the surgeon and patient then went to the Riverside hospital.

Within two and a half hours after the accident occurred, the needle was removed from a cavity directly over and adjacent to the heart, and the young man was out of danger.

Sunday afternoon at 12 o'clock Springer was scuffling with a friend in a room at the Springer home at Massac, a few miles from Paducah. He has been home on a vacation from college. In the lapel of his coat was a long driving needle. In one of their sudden lungen the needle was shoved straight into his left breast and protruding a quarter of an inch broke off, leaving the larger part of the needle in his breast. The reaction of the muscles completely removed the needle from the surface of the skin and from the nature of the pain it caused it was realized that the needle was dangerously near the heart.

A local physician after an examination, advised an immediate operation. With only his trousers and an undershirt on, and not even wearing any shoes, Springer was placed in a buggy and brought to the city.

Dr. H. P. Sights after the X-ray examination had located the needle, which by that time had worked farther into the breast, operated and succeeded in removing it. Springer is at the hospital today and will be out in a few days.

It is one of the most unusual operations ever performed at the hospital and it is believed that if prompt action had not been taken the needle might have worked into the heart, causing death.

TO THREE WOMEN

Gallant, but Fat Secretary Gives Up His Seat.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Secretary Taft has found his way into comic papers all over the world as the result of the joke Associate Justice Brewer, of the United States supreme court, told on the round secretary of war at the recent Vase commencement. The pleasant of the distinguished jurist, it will be remembered, was based on a compliment he desired to pay to the chivalry of his men.

"Yale men everywhere are polite," said Justice Brewer, "but Secretary Taft is the most polite man I ever saw in my life. Why, the other day I was in a street car with him and he got up and gave his seat to three women."

Scores of clippings based on this joke teach the war department every week. It has found its way into many languages, but the Germans seem to appreciate it most. Many of the German papers comment on the story at length and say that at last the Yankees seem to be developing real wit.

IN THE CLOUDS.

Nervy Amateur Aeronaut Is Spending Night.

New York, Aug. 27.—Dr. Julian P. Thomas, the amateur aeronaut, accompanied by his brother, Jefferson Davis Thomas, is spending the night in the clouds. Undaunted by his last experience in the Virgins, when the big balloon had several narrow escapes from destruction in a night flight to Cape Cod. Dr. Thomas set sail this evening from One Hundredth and Thirtieth street and works to test a new dirigible apparatus composed chiefly of a propeller operated by pedals. The balloon sailed off in a westerly direction over the Jersey hills and when last seen was evidently maneuvering under experiments by Dr. Thomas with the steering gear.

WEATHER:—Fair and cooler tonight. Tuesday fair. The highest temperature reached yesterday was 80 and the lowest today was 64.

INSANE WIFE

Kills Husband and Children and Then Burns Home.

Memphis, Aug. 27.—A special from Piggott, Ark., says: Suddenly becoming insane Mrs. Frank Polagrove, wife of a well known farmer of the St. Francis neighborhood, last night killed her husband and four-year-old child with an axe and fatally wounded her two other children, a boy of thirteen years and a girl of seven. The doctored woman then set fire to the building, the bodies of the man and four-year-old child being cremated. The other two children were found in a field adjoining their home this morning badly mutilated and it is not believed they can live more than a few hours. The mother when apprehended, confessed her crime and begged that she be killed.

BURGLARS

FRIGHTENED AWAY BY SCREAMS OF WOMEN.

Mrs. W. D. Thomas and Daughters Heard Some One at Windows and Called Police.

Burglars visited the residence of Mr. W. D. Thomas, at 1204 Tennessee street this morning, but were frightened away by the inmates before they had gained entrance.

Mrs. Thomas and two daughters were alone. They heard some one trying to break into a side window. They screamed and ran from the house to a neighbor's, where a telephone was found. The police station was notified and Patrolman James Clark hastened to the scene but the prowlers were gone. The women did not see any one.

Exchange Seat $95,000.

New York, August 27.—The New York Stock Exchange seat sold yesterday for $95,000 was that of Alfred De Cordova, a retired banker and broker. Mr. De Cordova purchased his seat on February 18, 1875, for $5,000, and by this sale he has netted $90,000 in 31 years. Mr. De Cordova retired from the firm of Alfred De Cordova & Co., in 1902, since which time he has devoted his time exclusively to outdoor sports.

DUEL TO DEATH.

Vienna, Aug. 27.—Two Polish pupils of the Tarnopol college in Cracow the other day killed each other. They had just graduated from school and found college work beyond them the first term. At the end of the term last week their reports were very bad, and the boys, both under 15, were in utter despair. They resolved to die, and, securing revolvers, went to their deserted classroom, and, facing each other as in a duel, clashed their left hands and shot each other with the revolvers in their right.

NECK WAS BROKEN WHEN HE TUMBLED

Thomas Crutchfield Lying Beneath Island Creek Bridge

Returning Home After Swearing Out Warrant When His Bicyclist Threw Him.

FELL TEN FEET TO DEATH

While returning to his home on Bridge street, Mechanicsburg, Saturday night after having sworn out a warrant for the arrest of James Taylor, charged with assaulting Crutchfield's son, Thomas Crutchfield fell off Island Creek bridge at Sixth street, and broke his neck. His body was found early Sunday morning.

Thomas Crutchfield was 45 years old and a union bricklayer. He was accidentally killed some time between 11 o'clock Saturday night and 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning, while in 50 yards of his home. The body was stiff in death when discovered at 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning and from appearances life had been extinct for hours.

Thomas Crutchfield resided just beyond the bridge on Sixth street, and Saturday night was called to town by his son, who said that James Taylor had made threats of cutting his throat. The father went to the police station and swore out a warrant for Taylor's arrest.

Crutchfield left the city hall about 10:30 o'clock, Judge Puryear said. The bicycle tracks show that he was unsteady.

He rode out Sixth street and onto the Island creek bridge. He had made a swerve and run upon a high plank at the south end of the bridge. This evidently unbalanced him and he fell over, a distance of about ten feet. The top of his head shows a bruise and his weight must have been thrown forward.

Sunday morning at 5:30 o'clock Patrolman Clark was going home and noticed a bicycle on the bridge just at the south end. He looked down and saw Crutchfield's body lying in a position of rest. Patrolman Clark thought probably he had gone down the embankment in sleep. An examination showed Crutchfield to be dead.

The coroner was summoned and had the body removed to the Mattingly undertaking establishment. It was prepared for burial and taken home. The inquest was held yesterday morning.

The verdict was "We, the jury, being duly sworn, find that the body lying before us to be that of Thomas Crutchfield, and that he came to death by accident."

Signed: Frank Waggoner, J. W. Skelton, L. E. Love, Hermann Ackerman, L. A. Lawler, William Walker.

The unfortunate man worked for William Turk, the contractor, and was a hard-worker. He leaves a wife and seven children. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence at Bridge and Sixth streets. The services were conducted by the Rev. Chiles. The burial was in Oak Grove cemetery.

SAGE'S NEPHEW

Claims His Uncle Was Not in Disposition Mind.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Claiming that when Russell Sage drew his will he made a private paper in which he told his wife how she should dispose of his millions, and alleging that if the contents of this private paper are found to be as he understands they are, it will prove that Sage was incompetent when he made it, Revel G. Sage, of this city, a grand nephew of Russell Sage, is about to begin action to break the Sage will. His attorneys allege that the Sage directions as provided in the private paper are as ridiculous and improbable as though they were for the establishment of a free airship line across the Atlantic.

NEWS OF KENTUCKY

To Preserve Eggs.

Louisville Aug. 27.—A test of a year-old egg was conducted at Mr. Robert J. Erick's drug store at Seventh and Main streets, yesterday afternoon, which demonstrated the discovery of a process which will keep eggs for at least twelve months. How much longer they may be kept remains to be seen. It is not improbable that eggs thus treated will keep fresh twenty years, but it is certain that they can be preserved as long that egg families are thinkers of the past, and there need be no further scarcity of fresh eggs in abundance at all times of the year. The process was discovered by Mr. Will J. Wedekind, a clerk for Mr. Erick. Mr. Wedekind has been in the drug business several years and his attention was directed to the need of such a process by the difficulty of securing plenty of fresh eggs at all times for use in drinks at the soda fountain. He set to work to solve the problem, and after a long course of experiments discovered a method of treating eggs, which enables them to defy both time and the weather. The process is, of course, a secret with Mr. Wedekind, who proposes to put it to immediate practical use.

Sheriff's Posses to Be Sent.

Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 27.—It is said that a special grand jury will be called next week in Lee county, Virginia, to investigate the killing of John Lee, an alleged member of the Frank Ball's crowd. Lee was killed by the Kentucky officers when they fired on the house in which Frank Ball was hiding. Lee has many relatives and friends in that county and they are very indignant over what they call his murder. It is said that Governor Swanson of Virginia, has advised Sheriff Ball to take this step, as he says the Kentucky officers overstepped their authority when they attempted to arrest Ball in Virginia. On the other hand the Kentucky officers claim they had the right to make the arrest, as they had been deputized as Virginia deputy sheriffs by a Lee county magistrate, the requisition papers for Ball are said to have arrived at the scene of the fight about twenty minutes after Lee was killed and still surrendered.

Young Divorcee.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 27.—Suit for divorce has been filed here by probably the youngest bride in Kentucky. The plaintiff is Mrs. Ada May Jackson, sixteen years old. She was married to Walter Jackson, an eighteen-year old lad, three weeks ago. Jackson took her to his home, where she took a dislike to his mother and left. She was Miss Nickerson, and her father brings the suit for divorce. The parents of both were present at the wedding of the couple and sanctioned it. They were married by the Rev. C. W. Elsey.

A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and vitality, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

Theatrical Notes

Melodrama Tomorrow.

A man's hasty and ill-adviced action in driving his young wife from home for fancied indiscretions, and Connie Thornton, Grace Hopkins, imaginary temptations, is the ground work of the emotional drama, "A Wife's Secret," which will be seen at the Kentucky on Tuesday night of this week. The leading role of the wronged girl-wife, Mona Madison, is said to be a beautiful and sympathetic character. It is portrayed by Grace Hopkins, the well-known young emotional actress. The production of scenery and effects is on a most elaborate scale. It is said, and nothing has been left undone that would make the presentation, this season, a peer of its two former years on the stage. This attraction is under the direction of Spencer and Aborn, who have contributed many excellent presentations to the field of melodrama and emotional plays. The cast includes such players as George B. Connor, William J. Shen, Tommy Toner, Allan St. John, and sometimes tinged with pathetic Anna Little, Winona Bridges, Kate Dudley and others.

"On the Bridge at Midnight."

"On the Bridge at Midnight," a comedy drama which will be seen here Saturday night and matinee, is the narration in play form of the search of a blind mother for her stolen child. Her experiences, exciting and sometimes tinged with pathetic humor, grip the attention of the audience from start to finish. It is more-over a wholesome story. The scenery is remarkable and of course reaches a climax in the setting that gives the play its name showing, with faithfulness in detail the huge life bridge over the Chicago river, across along that city's hidden stream, and a steamer passing through the draw.

Real Plot and Real Music.

"The King of Tramps" which comes to The Kentucky on Monday, matinee and night, is an American comedy act to Yankee Doodle music. Unlike the usual "musical comedies" this play contains a real plot, with an interesting story, set in a jolly, jingling romp of rollicking music. Not a jumble of old "coon songs" but a merry awing of melody that charms and delights the ear. Real "Yankee Doodle" music, sung with a vim and a dash that causes the blood to tingle and the feet to patter.

Frisco Pictures.

Moving pictures portraying the horrors of the San Francisco disaster will be seen at the Wallace park Casino this week. These pictures were taken by the company's agent during the fire.

Mount Pelee Eruption.

Work is to be pushed at Wallace park, for the Central Labor union's fall carnival. Mr. J. W. Johnson, of the Layton Fireworks company, arrived in the city Saturday and will at once begin putting the park and grounds into first class condition for the opening, September 10, 1906.

The carnival committee has secured some of the best shows and attractions now at River View Park and White City, Chicago. The Eruption of Mt. Pelee, one of the most costly free attractions ever given at a carnival, has been contracted for with the Layton Fireworks company.

This production has been the feature attraction at all the big fairs in the south and east and most of the

ODD TROUSER REDUCTIONS

The Odd Trousers Sale which has been in progress at our store for some time past, during which all our odd trousers have been offered at one-fourth off, is probably arousing more interest than any of our money-saving cut price sales, with the exception of the suit sale, as economical dressers recognize the opportunities it affords of making a new suit out of an old one by the addition of a pair of odd trousers. One-fourth off is a strong enough cut to satisfy most people, but if that does not interest you, by all means see the special lot of 150 pairs of fine trousers, former prices $3.00 to $8.00, now being offered for exactly large cities this summer.

Several thousand dollars worth of fireworks and explosives will be used in the production, which will include a large quantity of dynamite to produce the deafening concussion that accompany the eruption of the volcano and the rending of the mountain as the blazing lava pours down on the city at its base.

Preceding the pyrotechnic part of the spectacle there will be a special feature in connection with the life of the people of St. Pierre. These will consist of ballets, ensembles and street scenes and will add interest to the big fireworks display.

The novelty in the production lies in the fact that the explosives are discharged from the mouth of the crater making the scene realistic and sensational. Steel mortars are used in firing the aerial bombs and firing batteries and detonators in exploding the dynamite charges. Another feature of the display is the simultaneous flight of 250 rockets from the volcano which burst at great height and discharge thousands of fiery stars of all colors.

BACK TO PADUCAH BROTHER COMES

In Search of the Missing Miss Lacy Summers.

Has Traced Her Here but Is Not Per-sured She Is in the City at Present.

POLICE ARE ASSISTING HIM.

The Rev. L. A. Summers, of Greenfield, Tenn., who was here last week in quest of his missing sister, Miss Lacy Summers, of Jackson, Tenn., who mysteriously disappeared without informing any one of her intentions, returned yesterday and is today making a thorough canvass of the city in company with a patrolman.

The brother came here last week,
and after a day's search without fruits, went to Illinois Springs, Tenn., where he thought his sister might be. He was unsuccessful there and also at Mayfield, and arrived in Paducah yesterday. At the police station last night he said:

"I believe that my sister came here.
The amount of publicity should call her attention to the anxiety she has occasioned, and she should inform us of her whereabouts. I have traced her to Paducah. I saw an Illinois Central conductor, who said he noticed on the day my sister left Jackson, three women sitting in his train.
One, he thought, was the mother and the other two daughters, although one was dressed much better than the other two. The description he gave of the better dressed young woman fitted my sister exactly, even to the hat she wore. The conductor said the woman and poorly dressed girl came to Paducah and at Mayfield that the young woman whom I think was my sister, left the train. Here I lost trace of her.

"My sister formerly worked in Paducah in the millinery business, and I thought possibly she might have sought employment here.

The Rev. Mr. Summers this morning at 7 o'clock started out with Patrolman Lige Cross to make a thorough search of the city. They will first visit all the millinery stores and then make a canvass of the residence portion. The brother cannot account for the actions of his sister. He is certain she is not in Mayfield.

At Jackson, Tenn., the mother has offered a reward of $200, the money being on deposit in a Jackson bank for any evidence that will lead to the detection of the whereabouts of the missing daughter.

At Jackson it was learned that a young lady, giving Jackson as her home, boarded a local freight train Tuesday at Fulton, saying she was going to Paducah to work and would board in a private family of a minister by the name of Hall. Dr. H. H. Hall is a minister. It was declared at his home this morning that the family does not know any such young woman, and that no one boards at their home.

Case of Nursing.

"That excuse is a cynical and helpless one," said Senator La Follette.
"It doesn't speak at all well for the future."

He was discussing a certain corporation's apology for dodging the law.

"O cynical excuse," he went on,
"and one that recalls to my mind a young and pretty nurse who surprised at her friends by marrying a rich man of 75 years."

"Why on earth did you marry that fossil?" a friend asked the nurse.
"Well," she replied, "I thought I might as well be engaged in nursing one old man as a dozen."

Local fishermen are much perplexed over the question of pearls. On Fain's fishboat, Saturday morning, the question was asked as to what became of the pearls in the mussel shells after the mussel dies. None of the old river vets could answer. It is a fact that far as many years as the oldest Owensboro citizen can remember, pearls have been found in the mussel shells, when the shells are taken from the mussel while it is alive. No one of the old fishermen could remember a single instance when a pearl was found in the river or in any place except in the shell of the live mussel.—Owensboro Inquirer.

FREIGHT CARS OFF THE TRACK

Then Two Cars Were Hit By The Engine.

Another Cow Killed and Train Stalled
While Carcass Was Being Removed.

FAST PASSENGER TRAIN LATE.

A hoodoo followed last passenger train No. 192, from Louisville to Memphis over the Illinois Central last night, and when she rolled into the station here four hours late, the engineer was glad indeed to run his engine in the round house and go home to sleep the hoodoo off, if possible.

The train started from Louisville on time and at Dupuy met a freight derangement. It required nearly four hours to replace the coal cars. When the train got past and was going full clip the engine hit two cows. The cows were pushed aside with no damage to the train or loss of time. A few miles further the engine struck another cow, but this time with not so much grace. The bovine was killed and the engine stopped. This occasioned another loss of time and when the train pulled into Paducah it was 7:40 o'clock.

Engineer John Devaney was in the cab and was glad to get in.

Two Cars Off.

Two cars left the track at Dupuy, a small station eight miles this side of Central City. The train was extra No. 840. No one was injured. The train was composed of 25 cars and the Paducah wrecker was sent up to clear the track. It required four hours for the work.

Two Offers.

Dr. Woodrow Wilson, the president of Princeton, was sauntering down a shady lane in the early summer when he met a tall, handsome youth.

The youth had just been graduated. He was very poor and very intelligent. In all his courses he had taken honors, and in athletics also great honors had been his.

"Well, Smith," said Dr. Wilson,
"through at last eh?"
"Yes sir," said the young man, ambling and blushing.

"And now what are you going to do?"

"I hardly know yet, sir. I have had two offers."

"Two? Wonderful!"
"Yes, sir. One is from a scientific society offering me a secretaryship at $5 a week, and the other is from a baseball magazine, offering me a five-years' contract to pitch at $5-000 a season."

An Admission: Friend—"But I suppose you will admit that a rich man has some advantage over a poor man." The Millionaire—"Oh, verily. He ought to realize more quickly that money is not the same thing as happiness."—Brooklyn Life.

Blings—"Have you seen that wonderful lightning-change artist at the vaudeville theater?"

Bangs—"No. Is she wonderful?"

Blings—"I should say so. She puts on her bonnet in less than five minutes."—Cincinnati Tribune.

One reason why colonization by that they intermarry with the natives.

WORKS WONDERS.

A Wonderful Compound—Cures
Piles, Eczema, Skin Itching, Skin Eruptions, Cuts and Bruises.

Doan's Ointment is the best skin treatment, and the cheapest, because so little is required to cure. It cures piles after years of torture. It cures obstinate cases of eczema. It cures all skin itching. It cures skin eruptions, and abrasions without leaving a scar. It cures permanently. Paducah testimony proves it.

Mrs. Annie Richardson, living at 320 South Third street, says: "I have been troubled with eczema for a year or more. At times it was very sore and itches badly. I tried a great many ointments and salves of various kinds. I thought some of them were going to make a permanent cure but in a short time it would break out as bad as ever. When I saw Doan's Ointment advertised I made up my mind to give it a trial.
I obtained a box at Alvey & List's drug store and began its use. It proved itself to do all that is claimed for it. It made a complete cure and up to the present time I have not noticed any signs of its return."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

How Much "Dead Wood" Have You in Your Advertising?

The "dead wood"—unprofitable mediums—in lists used by advertisers who have transferred their accounts to Lord & Thomas in the past year, has proved to be as high as 33 per cent in the light of the Lord & Thomas Record of Results.

THIS 33 per cent of "dead wood" was counted acting or offsetting profitable results from another 33 per cent of the list, leaving the campaign limping along on the remaining 34 per cent of publications.

Even so, in many cases, the advertising had been considered successful.

But WE do not consider an advertising campaign successful until it has reached the greatest possible measure of success.

We do not consider a list of advertising mediums safe to use for our clients until each publication has been "MEASURED" by the actual results tabulated in the Lord & Thomas Record of Results.

This Record of Results is a compilation of weekly confidential reports on returns from all good newspapers and other media sent us by those of our clients who have a direct check on their advertising.

By comparing what each medium IS accomplishing, we can foretell what it WILL accomplish on similar propositions.

So you see we have practically eliminated the element of chance in advertising, by making it unnecessary to experiment (with consequent waste) in questionable copy and mediums.

We ask an opportunity to explain to you, personally, and in detail, what the Largest Advertising Agency in America —with all its experience—is ready to do to earn advertising success for you, rather than to win it on a speculation with your money.

One of our representatives is in your city every few days looking after the interests of some of our present clients.
That is why we are advertising in this newspaper—to you—NOW. Will you write, granting us an interview in your office?

Your letter will not obligate you in any way.

We are issuing a series of small books (cloth bound) covering advertising in all its phases, which we send free to interested advertisers.

Daily Thought.

"The things that seem so easily done had much preparatory work put upon them."

NO MORE PASSES.

Tomorrow the Hepburn railroad rate bill goes into effect and the traveling and shipping public as well as the railroads, will feel its effect. Of most immediate importance, perhaps, is the pruning of the free pass list, which takes place on the first day. After tomorrow only employees and their families and certain others, excepted for charitable and religious purposes, will ride on passes. This provision is enforceable only after January 1, but the railroads, interpreting the law strictly have decided that they will revoke the passes now, and thus some of the work of political reformers will be accomplished without further ado.

Ugly things have been said about the railroad pass. Unfortunately we have only too good reasons to believe that much of the iniquity charged to its baleful influence is not altogether fancy. Recent disclosures of the connection of transportation lines with industrial monopolies have proven, the existence of commercial conspiracies, and political corruption emanating from these close corporations. The mission of the pass has not been actively to promote these combinations, but rather to still the voice of reform and paralyze the executive hand. It has become the common practice to furnish free transportation to public officials, to extend courtesies to persons and institutions of influence and authority. Undoubtedly in many instances persons thus using the railroad pass have been unjustly accused of leniency toward the railroads, but it is equally unquestionable that human nature at its best is susceptible to favors. The issuance of free transportation has become so widely extended that it is actually eating into the profits of transportation lines to a noticeable degree.

The fact that the railroad companies have decided to begin conforming to the pass clause without waiting until January 1, shows how the railroads regard the free pass. The law promises to work to the advantage of all parties. The railroads will make more money without hauling so many people. Some officials will be relieved of the suspicion of favoring railroads for the sake of a pass, and the remainder of the traveling public will pay full fare more cheerfully.

Politicians usually have trouble enough brought to their doors without going forth in search of it, but William Jennings Bryan in his efforts to purify Illinois politics, long before he was personally interested in the make-up of the Illinois organization by reason of his candidacy for the presidency, and evidently long before the Illinoisans thought he had any business interfering with the local situation, attempted to dictate, at least, who they should not put in charge of the organization. He

"You should be more economical, my dear, and save something for a rainy day."

"What's the use? I can't go shopping and spend it on a rainy day."

denounced Chairman Sullivan as unfit for the position, morally, Sullivan was chosen again by a flattering majority, and William Jennings Bryan was subjected to the humiliation of being endorsed by Sullivan's friends. It was embarrassing for Bryan, but it is more than embarrassing for the Democracy of Illinois if what Bryan said about Sullivan is true, for he has enhanced Sullivan's power an hundred fold. Now we hear of a Tammany organization of the Cook county Democracy with Sullivan in charge of the purse, and all because the big man of Illinois triumphed in a contest of world interest. The David-Goliath incident of the filio is fine, because David killed Goliath, but we tremble to think what would have happened to Israel had David missed Goliath.

It appears that the friends of Frank Ball, the Bell county outlaw, are indignant over his capture, signifying the action of the sheriff and his posse as a violation of the comity of states, complicated with the cold-blooded assassination of one of Ball's intimates, who gave up his life defending the hunted man from invading justice. Their complaint is founded on the fact that Ball was hiding in Virginia and a Kentucky sheriff crossed the line and arrested. Ball said he was taken off his guard, and rather resented the fact that the sheriff disregarded the rules of the game and left Kentucky soil. According to the view of Ball and his friends he is not legally arrested and the sheriff and his men had no right to bring him back to Kentucky and put him in jail. But he is in jail and that, perhaps, is satisfaction enough for the sheriff, without troubling himself over the logic of the situation and constitutional law.

Some unfavorable comment is being made about the action of the general council in authorizing the appointment of an official dog catcher, the intimation being given that the new officer will impose an additional burden of expense on the city. This dog catcher is to receive 25 cents per head for all dogs captured. As the city gets $3 for every dog that possesses an owner, and gets rid of every dog that is not so fortunate, it is difficult to see where the expense comes in. The only criticism due the boards, is that they were slow in stirring up the police department to this duty. The dogs should have been driven off the streets or paid for before the hot season, when rabies are most common, came. The crusade should be pushed so that every dog owner will be on record in time for the taxes in January.

What ludicrous benefits, unprepared, and impossible to foresee, result from reform measures introduced for a purpose wholly foreign to the emergency. The anti-pass clause of the new railroad rate bill cuts out the free pass and railroads threaten to apply the law to state as well as interstate commerce. Supposing all the senators and representatives of western Kentucky should adopt the practice of "Walking Man" Wilson, what an impetus would be given the good roads movement.

The school board has been called in special session for tomorrow night again. The public schools of this city are due to open in two weeks, and not all the teachers have yet been elected, the text books have not been selected and a dozen matters of importance are unattended to. The fact that there is a deadlock over one position is no excuse for neglecting all the other duties of the board. There should be a quorum Tuesday night and some business transacted.

Governors of all the southern states will attend the Bryan reception. While waiting for the ship to come in they can all join the governor of North Carolina and the governor of South Carolina.

THE HUSTINGS AND THE FORUM

The Republican congressional campaign will be carried on in the courts as well as on the stump. There is where the Republicans have the advantage over their opponents. Next month the federal courts will reopen after the summer vacation, and "trust busting" will begin on a grand scale. In several judicial districts cases which are on the docket will be brought up for trial. In other districts evidence which has been obtained against trusts will be submitted to grand juries. The inquisitive and untiring investigators of the department of justice are all the time getting fresh material to keep grand juries busy during the winter months.

A grand anti-trust campaign, with the attorney general of the United States in active command, is about to begin. The Standard Oil company and other odious combines are to be brought to the bar of justice. While the campaign is going on Democratic orators may repeat from a thousand stumps the assertion of the Illinois Democratic platform that the administration "has proceeded in a half-hearted way to prosecute a few trusts," but they will capture no votes for party nominees. The voter who is particularly anxious to see the trusts beaten to their knees will inevitably be greatly influenced by the successful prosecution of some trusts and by the persistent war which is being waged against others. The nervousness and the acute discomfort manifested by the chiefs of the great trusts convince an observant man that the anti-trust campaign is not a half-hearted one.

Political exigencies force the Democrats to complain in platforms and speeches that too little is being done to bring the trusts to account. The average man will not be stirred up to mutiny by that complaint, for he sees that much is being done—that a new culprit is being haled up for judgment almost daily. The papers he reads are full of trust indictments and trials. He cannot help concluding that quite as much is being done as there would be if Democracy were in the saddle.—Chicago Tribune.

FAKE TELEGRAM.

Sent By Girl to Test Love of Two Sweethearts.

New York, Aug. 27.—To determine which of her two suitors she would marry, Miss Della Goodyear, of 133 West Forty-ninth street, resorted to a unique love test in telegraphing one of the young men in Kansas City that she had been mysteriously shot. John Stewart, the western sweetheart, instead of worrying to the point of setting out from his place of employment in the west to reach the young woman's side, caused the police of New York and Kansas City a busy forty-eight hour search for the victim of the supposed tragedy. When Miss Goodyear was located she explained to the police that she was simply joking.

"My western sweetheart was 'sorrow,'" said Miss Goodyear today. "I was in the difficult position of trying to decide between a suitor far away and another right here in the city. I wired this message: 'Come at once; Della has been mysteriously shot.' Instead of taking the first train from Kansas City, Mr. Stewart communicated with the police department of that city and they set the local authorities at work on the mystery. When I found what he did I decided to marry the other man."

WIFE ATTACKS FAIR RATHER.

Tears Sent Suit Nearly Off Rival on Crowded Muskegon Beach.

Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 27.—Before the astonished eyes of a thousand persons on the beach at Lake Michigan amusement park today an angry young wife almost tore the bathing suit off the fair form of a supposed rival, while the husband and admirer stood helplessly by, also dressed for the water. The names of the principals in the affair could not be learned, but it is thought they were Grand Rapids resorters. The trouble came about by the husband setting himself up as a swimming instructor before the eyes of his spouse on the beach. A splash and a sound smack or two of an umbrella on the back of the pupil resulted, whereupon a lively tussle ensued. Exhaustion on the part of the combatants closed the battle and the principals all vanished.

RESCUER MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Young Swiss Saves Her By Careless Mistake.

Geneva, Aug. 27.—A boat being rowed by a Swiss fisherman named Vogel across the lake from Visage to Biemme capsized the other day. A young man swam out to the woman's assistance and brought her ashore half drowned, but on identifying her he dropped her on the ground and walked away. When the man was informed later by the doctor that he had endangered the woman's life by his heartless action, he replied: "Sir, she is my mother-in-law. For the last year she has made my house a misery. If I had known sooner I would have climbed a tree and looked on."

Dynamite in Tenement.

New York, Aug. 27.—The lives of thirty tenants of a big apartment house in Carroll street, Brooklyn, were endangered, and Christiano, an iron leader, was seriously hurt by an explosion today, believed to have been caused by dynamite. The section where the explosion occurred is notorious for feuds and black hand outrages, and today's explosion may be traced to these causes. Several persons in the house told the police they had recently received threatening letters.

Bass Here But Short Time.
Claude Bass had been here but a short time, coming to visit his uncle on Broad street. He had not even had time to get a check cashed, and this is what he had done when he entered the Cohen store. Chief Collins is trying to find who cashed the check, and would appreciate this information.

Clarence Carey, of Mount City, Ill., came to Paducah Saturday to prove that he was not dead—not the boy found with his head beaten in at Sixth and Terrell streets Wednesday morning. He wanted to set all at ease as to his whereabouts, and dispelled the notoriety he got through the error in identification.

GIRL WIFE ARRESTED.

One of a Gang of Expert Forgers in Metropolis.

New York, Aug. 27.—Charged with passing a check for $250 bearing the forged signature of George M. Cohan, an actor, on the Knickerbocker Trust company, Mrs. Katherine Brown, alias Katherine McCarthy, 19 years old, was arrested this afternoon in the Tombs prison as she stood talking to her husband, Thomas McCarthy, through the iron grating of his cell. With Thomas J. Schadel, McCarthy was taken into custody early in the week on a charge of having defrauded the Union Trust company of $1,900 through bogus checks, and the police declare the two men are the principals in one of the cleverest bands of expert penmen that operated in New York City in years. Since their capture the police have hunted for McCarthy's girl wife, and when she called at the prison to see her husband a detective sergeant hurried to the Tombs from police headquarters and arrested her on a warrant.

F. L. Scott, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the immigration convention, has resigned on account of the pressure of other business, and Hon. D. H. Hughes has been appointed to succeed him.

Male Case on Trial.

County Judge R. T. Lightfoot has been all day trying one case, and it is probable that the case will not be concluded before tomorrow. It is the case of J. P. Parker against Tom Crick for the return of two mules and $25 damages, the result of a horse trade. Crick swapped two mules to Parker for one horse and $130 on the side. Parker alleges that the mules were not sound and up to what they were represented to be. Thirty-four witnesses are to be heard.

The Manager Of the B. & O. A.

By VAUGHAN KESTER

Copyright, 1901, by Harper & Brothers

Not less remarkable was Hyder's posthumous fame. Men who had never known him in life now spoke of him with trembling voices and every outward evidence of the sincerest sorrow. It was as if they had sustained a personal loss, for his championship of the strike had given him a great popularity, and his murder, growing out of this championship, as all preferred to believe, made his death seem a species of martyrdom.

Indeed, the mere fact that he had been murdered would have been sufficient to make him popular at any time. He had supplied Antioch with a glorious sensation. It was something to talk over and discuss and shudder at, and the town was grateful and happy with the deep, calm joy of a perfect emotion.

It determined to give him a funeral which should be creditable alike to the cause for which he had died and to the manner of his death.

Meanwhile Dan had been arrested, examined and set at liberty again in the face of the prevailing sentiment that he should be held. No one doubted—he himself least of all—that Roger Oakley had killed Hyder. Bob Emmett recalled their meeting as he left the office to go home for supper on the night of the murder, and a red and yellow handkerchief was found under the table, which Dan identified as having belonged to his father.

Kenyon came to Antioch and made his election almost certain by the offer of a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer. This stimulated a wonderful measure of activity. Parties of men and boys were soon scouring the woods and fields in quest of the old convict.

The day preceding that of the funeral a dusky countryman on a hard riden plow horse dashed into town with the news that a man who answered perfectly to the description of Roger Oakley had been seen the night before twenty-six miles north of Antioch, at a place called Barrow's Sawmills, where he had stopped at a store and made a number of purchases. They had struck off through the woods. It was also learned that he had eaten his breakfast the morning after the murder at a farmhouse midway between Antioch and Barrow's Sawmills. The farmer's wife had at his request put up a lunch for him. Later in the day a man at work in a field had seen and spoken with him.

There was neither railroad, telegraph nor telephone at Barrow's Sawmills, and the fugitive had evidently considered it safe to venture into the place, trusting that he was ahead of the news of his crime. It was on the edge of a sparsely settled district, and to the north of it was the unbroken wilderness stretching away to the lakes and the Wisconsin line.

The morning of the funeral an extra edition of the Herald was issued, which contained a glowing account of Hyder's life and achievements. It was an open secret that it was from the gifted pen of Kenyon. This notable enterprise was one of the wonders of the day. Everybody wanted a Herald as a souvenir of the occasion, and nearly 500 copies were sold.

All that morning the country people in unknown numbers flocked into town. As Clarence remarked to Spide, it was just like a circus day. The noon train from Buckhorn Junction arrived crowded to the doors, as did the 1 o'clock train from Harrison. Antioch had never known anything like it.

The funeral was at 2 o'clock from the little white frame Methodist church, but long before the appointed hour it was crowded to the verge of suffocation, and the anxious, waiting throng overflowed into the yard and street with never a hope of wedging into the building, much less securing seats.

A delegation of the strikers, the Young Men's Kenyon club, of which Hyder was a member, and a representative body of citizens escorted the remains to the church. These were the people he had feared at, whose stings he had ridiculed and whose griefs he had made light of, but they would gladly have forgiven him his sarcasms even had they known of them. He had become a hero and a martyr.

Chris Berry and Cap Roberts were in charge of the arrangements. On the night of the murder the former had beaten his rival to the Herald office by exactly three minutes and had never left Hyder until he lay in the most costly casket in his shop.

It was admitted afterward by thoughtful men who were accustomed to weigh their opinions carefully that Mr. Williamson, the minister, had never delivered so moving an address or one that contained so obvious a moral. The drift of his remarks was that the death of their brilliant and distinguished fellow townsman should serve as a warning to all that there was no time like the present in which to prepare for the life everlasting. He assured his audience that each hour of existence should be devoted to consecration and silent testimony; otherwise, what did it avail? It was not enough that Hyder had thrown the weight of his personal influence and exceptional talents on the side of sound morality and civic usefulness. And as he soared on from point to point his hearers soared with him, and when he rounded in on each well tried climax they rounded in with him. He never faltered then once. They always knew what he was going to say before it was said and were ready for the thrill when the thrill was due. It might have seemed that Mr. Williamson was paid a salary merely to make an uncertain hereafter yet more uncomfortable and uncertain, but Antioch took its religion hot, with a shiver and a threat of blue flame.

When Mr. Williamson sat down Mr. Kenyon rose. As a layman he could be entirely eloquent. He was sure of the faith which through life had been the guiding star of the departed. He had seen it instanced by numerous acts of eminently Christian benevolence, and on those rare occasions when he had spoken of his hopes and fears he had, in spite of his shrinking modesty, shown that his standards of Christian duty were both lofty and consistent.

Here the Hon. Job Harrows, who had been dozing peacefully, awoke with a start and gazed with wide, bulging eyes at the speaker. He followed Mr. Kenyon, and though he tried hard, he couldn't recall any expression of Hyder's, at the Red Star bar or elsewhere, which indicated that there was any spiritual uplift to his nature which he had at secret altars; so he pictured the friend and citizen, and the dead faced well at his hands, perhaps better than he was conscious of, for he said no more than he believed.

Then came the prayer and hymn, to be succeeded by a heavy, solemn pause, and Mr. Williamson stepped to the front of the platform.

"All those who care to view the remains and I presume there are many here who will wish to look upon the face of our dead friend before it is conveyed to its final resting place—will please form in line at the rear of the edifice and advance quietly up the right aisle, passing across the church as quickly as possible and thence down the left aisle and on out through the door. This will prevent confusion and make it much pleasanter for all."

There was a rattle of skirts and the awkward shuffling of many feet as the congregation formed in line; then it filed slowly up the aisle to where Chris Berry stood, weavered and filed, with a culture look on his face and a virtuous touch to his hands that now and again picked at the flowers which were heaped about the coffin.

The Emorys, partly out of regard for public sentiment, had attended the funeral, for, as the doctor said, they were the only real friends Griff had in the town. They had known and liked him when the rest of Antioch was dubiously critical of the newcomer, whose ways were not its ways.

When the congregation thronged up the aisle Constance, who had endured the long service, which to her was unmercifully grotesque and horrible, in shocked if silent rebellion slipped her hand into her mother's. "Take me away," she whispered brokenly, "or I shall cry out! Take me away!"

Mrs. Emory hesitated. It seemed a desertion of a trust to go and leave Griff to these strangers, who had been brought there by morbid curiosity. Constance guessed what was passing in her mind.

"Papa will remain if it is necessary," Mrs. Emory touched the doctor on the shoulder. "We're going home, John; Constance doesn't feel well; but you stay."

When they reached the street the last vestige of Constance's self control vanished utterly. "Wasn't it awful!" she sobbed. "And his life had only just begun! And to be snuffed out like this, when there was everything to live for!"

Mrs. Emory, surprised at the sudden show of feeling, looked into her daughter's face. Constance understood the look.

"No, no! He was only a friend! He could never have been more than that. Poor, poor Griff!"

"I am glad for your sake, dearie," said Mrs. Emory gently.

"I wasn't very kind to him at the last, but I couldn't know—I couldn't know," she moaned.

She was not much given to these confidences even with her mother. Usually she never questioned the wisdom or righteousness of her own acts, and it was not her habit to put them to the test of a less generous judgment, but she was remembering her last meeting with Hyder. It had been the day before his death. He had told her that he loved her, and she had flared up, furious and resentful, with the dull, aching ache of many days in her heart and a cruel readiness to make him suffer. She had tried to convince herself afterward that it was only his vanity that was hurt.

Then she thought of Oakley. She had been thinking of him all day, wondering where he was, if he had left Antioch, and not daring to ask. They were going up the path now toward the house, and she turned to her mother again.

"What do they say of Mr. Oakley—I mean Mr. Dan Oakley? I don't know why, but I'm more sorry for him than I am for Griff. He has so much to bear!"

"I heard your father say he was still here. I suppose he has to remain. He can't choose."

"What will he do with his father if he is captured? Will they—? She could not bring herself to finish the sentence.

"Goodness knows! I wouldn't worry about him," said Mrs. Emory in a tone of considerable asperity. "He made all the trouble, and I haven't a particle of patience with him!"

A MILLION-ACRE ESTATE.

Santa Gertrudes Ranch Is Twice as Large as Rhode Island.

By the recent acquisition of a tract of 170,000 acres Santa Gertrudes ranch, in Southwest Texas, already reputed to be the largest estate in the world owned by a private individual, was increased to the immense proportions of 2,000 square miles or 1,280,000 acres. As an aid to the comprehension of these dimensions some comparisons may be found useful. The area of Rhode Island, exclusive of the water of Narragansett Bay, comprises 673,920 acres, or just a trifle more than half the area of Santa Gertrudes ranch. The area of Delaware, exclusive of water is 1,250,000 acres, or 23,000 acres smaller than Santa Gertrudes. Texas constitutes one-eleventh of the area of the United States; yet if the Lone Star state were to be cut up into ranches the size of Santa Gertrudes there would only be land enough to make 132.

This exposing her to end, instead of in 1853 by Captain Richard King, a former Mississippi river pilot, who, with his friend, Captain Milin Kennedy, had charge of the transport service on the Rio Grande which supplied General Taylor's army during the Mexican war. Captain King's ambition was to possess the largest and best conducted ranch in Texas, but he died twenty years ago, after accumulating 800,000 acres. The property was left to his widow, Mrs. H. M. King, who turned the entire management over to her son-in-law, R. J. Kleberg, a lawyer, who was born and brought up within 150 miles of the ranch. Under Mr. Kleberg's management the acreage has been increased more than 50 per cent.—C. F. Carter in Harper's Weekly.

FOLK BLAMES GOOD CITIZENS.

Declares Their Inactivity Obstacle to Honest Government.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 27.—"The great obstacle in the way of good government, the greatest hindrance to the progress of righteousness, is the inactivity of good citizens," declared Governor Polk, of Missouri, in an address at the Rockford Chautauqua today. "The country needs men in times of peace more than in war. When good citizens disregard their obligations to their country, they leave control to undesirable elements. The strength of the lawless is great, but is as nothing when it comes in contact with an aroused public conscience. St. Louis showed this when the people there, wear of the domination of corruption, overthrew them. Philadelphia at last awoke from her slumbers and determined to do something, and many other cities are doing the same thing. This world is getting better, not worse. A moral regeneration is in progress, not a moral degeneration. The fact that this awakening has come at a time of great prosperity shows it does not proceed from a spirit of discontent, but from the moral sense of the people. It is simply a determination to stamp out the things that dishonor in public life and the things that oppress in private life."

POLITICIANS.

Will Not Have Charge of the Bryan Reception.

New York, Aug. 27.—Harry W. Walker, who has an active part in arranging the reception to be given to W. J. Bryan by the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust league on August 30, today gave out a statement to the effect that politicians, headed by Alexander Troup, of Connecticut, and Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo, are trying to control the movement, and that the league will control the arrangement for the reception, even if it has to tell the politicians to retire. "Mr. Bryan accepted the invitation from the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust league," said Mr. Walker, "and we think that he will appear there as stated."

Mr. Mack, who is the Democratic national committeeman from this state, said in reply to the statement that there is a popular impression that the Bryan reception is a political affair and that Mr. Bryan regards it that way. "Why shouldn't politicians take part in it?" he said. Mr. Mack said he is not making trouble in the committee and that there is no talk of Hearst in the arrangements.

DESTITUTE FAMILY.

Have No Place to Stay Except the Police Court Room.

John Smith, of Peoria, Ill., with his wife and four children, applied at the police station Saturday night for a place to rest. He is ill and without funds. He went from Peoria, Ill., after selling his household effects, to Bloomington and then to Cairo, finding no work at either place. He came here Friday on the Dick Fowler and had been at a small hotel since his arrival. He had to leave the hotel because of the lack of funds. He is a state roofer and will try to secure work here. The family spent the night in the police court room at the city hall.

QUITS SALOON.

Then as Chief of Police Closes Down Ltd.

Wayland, Mich., August 27.—A week ago William Blockstead, in white apron, was taking in nickels over a bar for lager beer. Today the same William Blockstead is chief of police of Wayland and has clamped down the lid so tightly that not a glass of beer is sold after hours and no saloon-keeper dares open his doors on Sunday. The bartender was suddenly converted and quit his job, declaring that he would devote his life to the interests of law and order. He had mixed some in local politics and had worked up quite a following.

Blockstead asked the mayor to make him chief of police. He mapped out for the executive his plans for enforcing the closing laws, was appointed and unanimously confirmed by the council. Without waiting to don his uniform the ex-bartender chief personally notified every saloon keeper that the lid was on and on to stay. Chief Blockstead says he will arrest the first man that violates the liquor and gambling laws. His appointment will be made an issue at the next municipal election.

Hates Drago Doctrine.

Rome, Aug. 27.—The semi-official Popolo Romano today devoted a leading article to the international American conference at Rio Janeiro, of which it says:

"No European country can object to Monroeism, but nobody will admit the Drago doctrine, which means that Latin American can contract debts in Europe and not pay them."

HOME RULE

IRELAND MAY GET HER WISH AFTER ALL.

King Edward Said to Favor Measure to Be Passed by This Parliament.

London, August 27.—The terms of a home rule bill for Ireland have been fixed. King Edward has approved of it, the Liberal cabinet will make it a government measure and it will be introduced in the house of commons, immediately upon the prorogation of parliament.

This means that for the first time in many years Ireland is really upon the threshold of self-government. The details of the bill were agreed upon at a series of conferences between the king, Premier Campbell-Bannerman and John E. Hermond, leader of the Irish party. The measure provides for:

First, An Irish parliament composed of one body to sit in Dublin, with absolute right to levy taxes for local uses.

Second, Manhood suffrage in every borough.

Third, A nominal veto power upon the part of the governor general.

Fourth, Abrogation of the general tax upon Irishmen for the support of the theological seminary at Trinity College.

Fifth, Financial and moral assistance from the government of Great Britain in the revival of Irish industries.

The home rule bill is largely modeled upon the constitution granted to the Transvaal, but it has many features of the Canadian home rule act. Its liberality is said to have astounded even Mr. Redmond.

A member of the cabinet said that to King Edward Irishmen should give much of their gratitude. His majesty is said to have entrusted the home rule bill to Premier Campbell-Bannerman with the statement that it represented one of the epochs of his reign, and the injunction that it must be successfully consummated.

The bill will have first place in the deliberations of parliament when that body convenes again October 22, and it will be rushed to final vote in both houses.

WITH SPIDERS

Demented Woman Tries to Poison the Coffee.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 27.—Miss Nettie Williams, a young white woman, is under arrest here charged with attempting to poison the family of Hugh Webber, on Baxter avenue. She was discovered putting a spider into the coffee pot just before it was brought from the kitchen to the table. An examination of the coffee pot showed other spiders. Miss Williams was visiting the Webber family from her home near Clinton, Anderson county. For several days she had been acting strangely and members of the family watched her closely after the coffee pot episode.

He later recovered a stolen horse and buggy belonging to C. McCine, a farmer.

This morning at an early hour, he was called to a residence on Tennessee street to arrest burglars, but the burglars had escaped.

Patrolman Clark has been working with Patrolman James Brennan in Mechanicsburg, but has now been assigned to the depot beat.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

Fine of $100.00 Imposed for Substituting Labels.

Jacob, alias James Goldgraber, a saloon keeper, of 2309 Market street, St. Louis, Mo., recently indicted by the grand jury for using Anheuser-Busch-Budweiser labels taken from empty bottles and putting them on bottles containing beer brewed by other brewers and selling same as Budweiser, was convicted and fined $100.00 in Judge Moore's court.

The case was vigorously prosecuted by Campbell Cummings and is the first of several similar proceedings in which he will appear for the brewery. The case was begun Monday and continued Tuesday until the jury went out at 3:30 p. m. Within an hour and a half a verdict of guilty was returned against Goldgraber, lost Henry Steinman, who was a co-defendant, was discharged.

The evidence showed that Goldgraber owns the saloon and that Steinman is employed as a bartender. The contention of the Anheuser-Busch-Brewing association's attorney was that his client suffered much annoyance and pecuniary loss by the practice of some saloon keepers of substituting "Budweiser" labels for those of cheaper grades of cheaper grades of beer.

Disorder in Empire.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—Disturbances resulted today in the grave conditions in other parts of the empire. A detachment of troops escorting a band of prisoners mutinied at Kallef, and sixteen soldiers were placed under arrest. At Tamb a passenger train was held up by revolutionists. A policeman and a guard were killed. At Hika many bombs were discovered by the police.

Pastors Getting Scarce.

Hartford, Conn., August 27.—The supply of ministers in the Congregational church is falling off rapidly, according to figures just compiled at Hartford seminary. The two chief causes noted, which are said to affect other denominations as well, is the slender income now allowed to pastors by their congregations and the broader and freer field for Christian service offered by the Y. M. C. A.

FAREWELL CONCERT.

Promises to Be Great Musical Event at Park.

It was announced today that the young lady selling the largest number of tickets for the farewell concert to be given Thursday evening, August 30, in compliment to Prof. Harry Gilbert, will be given a box at the concert. Prof. Gilbert returned this morning from a visit in town and will leave this evening for Mayfield, where tonight he will give a recital. Indications are that a crowd, which will tax the capacity of the Casino, will be in attendance at the concert. The members on the program will be unusually fine, and all who will take part are preparing with enthusiasm.

TOM LAWSON COLLAPSES.

Death of His Wife May Affect Course of His Life.

Boston, August 27.—The Herald says today that Thomas W. Lawson is in a state of mental and physical collapse as the consequence of the recent death of his wife. The conviction is gaining that he never will again resume his former occupations and be the picturesque and striking figure he once was in the life of the financial district.

King Edward maintains at Sandringham a big lot of pigeons, and recently won with one of his birds the stellar event in this line of sport, known in England as the "Pigeon Derby."

When Miss Angela Burdette-Conti was created a baroness by Queen Victoria thirty-five years ago there was not a single peeress in her own right in the British kingdom.

Spain is said to be the only country that has a coinage bearing a baby's head on it, that being the one of 1888, with that of King Alfonso on the issue.

SHAH OF PERSIA SERIOUSLY ILL.

St. Petersburg Hears Condition of the Ruler Is Alarming.

St. Petersburg, August 27.—The health of the Shah of Persia, according to competent advisers received here today from Teheran, is the subject of the gravest alarm. The Persian ruler was greatly enfeebled by the recent apoplectic stroke he suffered, and recent events have aggravated his malady. In spite, however, of the serious nature of the crisis through which Persia is now passing, diplomatic circles here are convinced that the demise of the shah will not be accompanied by a serious convulsion in the empire, as Great Britain and Russia are now acting in harmony to preserve order in Persia, and their influence will have great weight with the contending factions.

CAVE-IN OF STREET.

Hurled Several Men Excavating Under Surface.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—As the result of a cave-in of more than fifty feet of the alley between State street and Wabash avenue at Washington street, one man was killed, five were seriously hurt, two of whom will likely die, and a score of other workmen were badly cut and bruised. The men were digging underneath the alley which is paved with concrete, excavating for the subcellar of the new building which is in the process of construction for Marshall Field & Co. The dead: Charles A. Kitcher, 40 years old.

"Forbidden" is a fauillier word abroad. In Italy it is "vietato," in Germany, "verboten," or more politely, "untersagt," and in France, "dofeendu."
